The Women in Polygamy.

It is a favorite assertion with the Mormon Church leaders that, as Polygamy is a Divine revelation given to Joseph Smith and proclaimed to the Mormon people by the present head and leaders of Mormonism in Utah, the women of the church should receive and practice it without a murmur or complaint as an essential of their faith and promotion of happiness in the future world. It is in evidence that many men and women, while they believe the Book of Mormon and accept the teachings of Smith and Young as correct—and certain guides to future glory and exaltation, they cannot be brought to endorse Polygamy—in fact they refuse to practice it, and are therefore under the ban of the church leaders. The women of Utah are not, and never can be, satisfied with this system. They will ever rebel against it—for it is no part of a woman's life destiny to share her husband's affection with any other living woman, claiming with her the sacred name of wife. How plainly this feeling is manifested in Utah is readily shown by the discourses of the church leaders in the Tabernacles, Ward Houses, and Bowerys of the church, wherein everything that can be possibly said to bend woman's nature to the degradation is used and urged with a pertinacity worthy of a noble and soul elevating cause.

Now we will assert from our knowledge of the workings of Polygamy—that of every ten women of Utah, who were the first and legitimate wives, seven of the number agonized nearly unto death when their husbands brought into their hearts other women to divide the title of wife with the living and only legitimate one. That the remaining three were silent acceptors of their fate only from what they conceived to be a religious duty—and that no one of the ten, if left to her own judgment and wishes, would ever consent to her husband taking such a step. If we had no knowledge of the workings of Polygamy, we could safely assert this much, having only a woman's heart and nature to guide our opinion. We have heard ladies, residing in this city, who have been gently reared, highly cultured, and capable of adorning any fire-side of the land, say, that they have never enjoyed one day of peace or happiness since their husbands yielded to the degradation and took to their hearts the great abomination. Many legitimate wives will not permit their husbands to bring other women into the household, on this point they stand firm and inflexible. They will not consent to be disgraced by living under the same roof with Polygamy, and the husbands are compelled to find other abodes for the second, third, fourth, fifth, and so on to the end of the chapter. In many instances the first wife does not know the children her husband may have by his second, third, and fourth, as the case may be. Each act of the women of Utah, which is free from restraint or compulsion, indicates beyond dispute that the system of Polygamy cannot find any support within their hearts, and church leaders labor in vain to compel the women "to round up their shoulders to bear the cross." The women may bear it outwardly because they see no immediate prospect of relief—but they never bear it cheerfully and in happiness. The Eternal never intended that woman should be plunged into such a depth of great misery. No religion of our Savior, who died for the sins of the world, ever made such a demand upon woman as a condition of salvation and future glory in the life everlasting. The church leaders stand in their Tabernacles and cry with loud voices, "The Kingdom of God cannot be destroyed." That is even so—no power of man or of the devil can destroy the Kingdom of God. But those leaders blaspheme when they assert that Polygamy is of the Kingdom of God. They commit a great sin against the Christianity of the past nineteen centuries, when they attempt to place woman in a degrading position—destroying the glory of her character and the great crowning purpose of her existence, with every Christian religion arrayed against them, and the entire sentiment of the age opposing them, it is folly to expect a continuance of this degrading bondage of woman. For a few months they may continue the practice; but sooner or later outraged humanity and public opinion will destroy them and cast out Polygamy from the confines of this fair and beautiful Republic.

CONGRESSIONAL.

HOUSE.

Washington, March 28.

In the House Wilson, of Iowa, from the Judiciary Committee, reported a bill to facilitate settlement accounts of officers of the Freedman's Bureau with the Treasury, which was considered and passed.

Morrill, from Committee on Ways and Means, reported a bill postponing for two months the laying and collecting income tax, and the annual tax upon schedule A, so that collectors may have time to report, the new bill which shall take effect the present year, bill passed.

Raymond offered a resolution, adopted, that the Committee on Judiciary enquire into the expediency of amending the duties of clerks in the House of Representatives, in preparing for the organization of the House, to provide that no member whose name may be called by the clerk, shall participate in the election of speaker or any other business until he shall first have taken the oath prescribed by the Constitution and laws.

GENERAL NEWS.

Chicago, March 28.

The situation in Connecticut is exciting, and there is talk of some serious trouble about the Johnson case. The President's action in the case of Messrs. Owen and Griswold, who accompanied Gen. Hawley to the White House, published a card that the President said he desired the success of the Union party, and that whatever differences of opinion he has with members of that party he expects to fight out within the lines of that political organization.

Burr, editor of the Hartford Times, and C. M. Ingersoll, who called on the President the next day with Mr. English, publish a card that Johnson says he means by the Union party that party which supports his restoration policy. Ingersoll, in a speech at New Haven, says: "We read to the President the statement of Owen and Griswold, whereupon he said, 'when I said Union party, I did not mean the men who are endeavoring to break up the Union, but the men who stand by me. I believe the maintenance of this Union depends on the policy which I have indicated to Congress. Those who maintain that policy, are my friends; those who oppose it I certainly have no desire to see elected to any office.'"

Ingersoll further says: "We handed to the President the resignation of Postmaster Cleveland, of Hartford, which he instantly endorsed, as published."

The New York World of the 26th says, President Johnson's way of treating Postmasters in Connecticut is very significant. The radical Postmaster of Norwich, renders his resignation because he is Chairman of the Republican State Committee and a supporter of Hawley, and is promptly accepted. The Postmaster of Hartford also resigns, on the ground that he supports English, and his resignation is handed back to him.

The World announces that Postmaster A. D. Sperry, of New Haven, would support English. The New Haven Palladium denies it, but with the qualification that Mr. Sperry is a warm friend of President Johnson, and an ardent supporter of his policy. Per contra, James K. Babcock, Collector of the port of New Haven, says he called on the President to tender his resignation, if his support of Hawley required it, when the President assured him (Babcock) that the report that he (the President) requested office holders to support English was false, and that instead of demanding votes for Mr. English he was opposed to his election.

The Hartford Press, edited by Gen. Hawley, says, if the President's opinion about the Union party, as expressed to Ingersoll, is his true position, it is simply impertinent and will not shake the determination of the people of Connecticut, who know no master but God.

The New York Times commenting upon the whole situation says, the result is doubtful, but if not elected, Gen. Hawley will owe defeat to his own rash action in making issues not authorized by the Union party. The radicals in Congress and the country don't need so costly an experience to teach them that they have everything to lose and nothing to gain by forcing extreme and unwarranted political issues upon the country, or by making war upon the Administration which they have placed in power.

New York, March 28.

(The tone of the morning papers on the Veto Message.) The Herald says, the veto exhibits this bill as a most flagrant device for overriding the reserved rights of States in their legislative and judicial tribunals, ever attempted in Congress. It appears one thousand times worse than the freedmen's bill, and the veto marks the impassable barrier between the President and the ruling radicals of Congress. Henceforward there can be no party endorsements of Congress coupled with professions of adhesion to the Administration.

The Tribune says, let us thank Mr. Johnson that his veto is so sweeping. He might have phrased cunningly, but he has chosen to let us know that not this particular bill but any measure whereby Congress shall attempt to protect the blacks against white abuse must encounter his determined and deadly opposition.

The Times says, the logic of the veto is so keen and searching, and so irresistible, that we should hope that even the strongest advocates of this measure will see how vastly important it is that the veto power should exist, and how important, also, in a high sense, that it should be entrusted to the President, so endowed with judgment and most uncommon courage.

The World says the veto is conclusive. That the conflict between the President and Congress admits of no compromise.

Washington, March 28.

The funeral of Senator Foote will be held in the Senate Chamber at one o'clock to-day. The remains will then be conveyed to Vermont, when further service will be held. This event will absorb the attention of both Houses of Congress to-day.

The vote on the passage of the civil rights bill over the veto, in the Senate, will not be reached for several days, and it is hoped in the meanwhile to fill the vacancies from New Jersey, and Vermont with Republican Senators.

Returns received at the General Land Office exhibit nearly 12,000 acres taken up during January, at Roesburg, Oregon, for actual settlement.

Since the mail service began to be restored in the Southern States, the receipts of the department run largely behind the expenses.

The Secretary of the Treasury has authorized the Collector of New York to admit cargoes of hides arriving from South America via Aspinwall.

The May interest on the 520 bonds will be paid early in April, amounting to twenty-two millions in gold.

Cairo, Ill., March 28.

Mrs. Jeff. Davis and her two children arrived here to-day on the steamer Seminary, accompanied by Col. Jenkins. The party go to Louisville, en route for Canada.

Washington, March 28.

Solomon Foote, of Vermont, Senator since 1851, died at 4 o'clock this morning, the Senate at a mark of respect adjourned immediately after.

The Reading Journal says, that the Secretary of War laid before Congress an important report of Gen. Pope, on condition and necessities of his Military Department. He says protection to travellers, crossing the Plains, is a question of absorbing interest, and argues the necessity of the speedy completion of the Pacific Railroad, which will do more than any other single cause to overcome and prevent Indian difficulties. Efficient troops should be stationed along the routes, to protect emigration and secure the safety of surveying and working parties of the railroad, and, also, when necessary to render aid in their construction. It would be false economy, to defer the construction of these lines, to be delayed or embarrassed for the want of a few troops and expense they would occasion. Gen. Pope then enters into a long discussion of various routes to Montana, Utah, Colorado, New Mexico, etc., and proposes that the Government should restrict to one route for each, and guard that route. He says the present Indian management is giving worse daily and submits estimates of the number of troops that will be required to preserve order, specifying fifty seven points at which there should be small garrisons, the aggregate is 12 regiments infantry, 8000 effective men, and 6 regiments of cavalry three thousand effective men, and that one-third more of each arm of the service should be added for contingencies.

The resignation of Gen. John M. Palmer, Commanding the Department of Kentucky was accepted, Gen. Jeff. C. Davis succeeds to the Command of the Department.

The Reconstruction Committee report the testimony concerning Virginia, and North and South Carolina, which includes the testimony of Gen. Rob. E. Lee, who represents that nothing like the sentiment of hostility to the United States movement exists in Va. That there are no collisions or conspiracies with that end in view, that the people of the South are disappointed and saddened by the result of the war, that they yield submissively and are only working now to their material interest, and that the surest and speediest means to reconcile the people to the Government, and making them its cordial supporters, is to extend to them the equal political rights with the people of other States, as to the negroes he expressed a belief which he says he has always entertained that the State would be much better without them, and he repudiates the idea that cruelties were purposely inflicted on Federal prisoners of war.

Foreign News.

New York, March 28.

The steamer China arrived this evening, from Liverpool, 17th.

In the House of Lords, on the 16th, in a long speech on Irish grievances, moved that House go into the committee on the state of Ireland. A debate ensued. Russell deprecated the attempt to carry out the violent remedies proposed by Earl Gray, it would produce an unprecedented agitation in the country. He preferred gradual, well-considered reforms. Gray's motion was negatived without division.

In the House of Commons, Mr. Laird said that assurances had been received from Spain, Chili and Peru that vessels no longer building in England should not leave until the pending difficulties were settled.

The Corps Legislatif was debating a paragraph in the address relative to internal liberties. Jules Favre spoke in support of the amendment of the opposition. During his speech he was called to order by the President for attacking the Constitution. Other speeches were made in favor of the amendment, which however was finally rejected by a vote of 238 to 72.

Vienna journals assert that there has been no interchange of diplomatic notes between Austria and Prussia, since Feb. 7th.

A Vienna telegram says the convention with Mexico in reference to recruiting in Austria for volunteer corps for service in Mexico, was signed on the 15th by Count Mensdorf and the Mexican Minister.

The London Oyl says the King of Prussia has overruled Von Bismarck, and an arrangement is yet to be effected by which Austria may consent to the annexation of Schleswig Holstein to Prussia, and it is said to be in contemplation of giving back North Schleswig to Denmark as a propitiation to the public opinion of Europe.

It is denied that the British Government has been asked to mediate on the question of Duchies between Austria and Prussia.

The Cork Examiner says it has excellent reasons for knowing that the report current for the last few days that Stephens had left Ireland, is correct, and that Stephens, prior to departing, had joined on the Brotherhood in Ireland the advisability of paying more attention to their peaceful pursuits than they had been doing for some time. The Examiner adds that Stephens' wife was in Cork, intending to sail for America on the 15th in the City of Boston.

New York, March 28.

The Reform Bill was explained in the House of Commons by Gladstone, on the 12th. The main features of the Bill are the reduction of the qualifications of county voters from £50 to £14 occupancyp, and for boroughs to £7 rental, and to lodgers paying £10 or upward for apartments. The measure adds about 400,000 to the number of voters. The bill deals only with franchise, leaving the redistribution of representation for another session. After many speeches for and against the proposal, Mr. Bright expressing satisfaction with it, the bill was read the first time.

The Liberal journals generally approved the measure, although it hardly comes up to their wishes. The chances of the bill continue to be the subject of discussion.

The Conservative journals demand its rejection. Others call for amendments.

The Daily Telegraph declares it is growing quite clear that it will become a law. The real crisis of the measure was its first appearance, which it passed through safely.

The Parliamentary oath proposed by Government, as modified in the first two clauses by D'Israeli, is adopted.

Toronto, Canada, March 29.

Orders have been issued to muster out all volunteers in excess of 10,000, retaining that number as a standing army of observation against the Fenians.

BOUNTY ON MARRIAGE.—Wells, of the Phenological Journal, proposes that Government offer a bounty of two or three hundred dollars to those who engage in matrimony. If the suggestion be accepted, and the pecuniary inducement held out, Salt Lake City will double its population every month, for there a fellow could employ a person by the month, and keep the Government continually in debt to him.—Toulame, Cal. Courier.

COLPAT, Speaker of the House, is mentioned in connection with the next Presidency.

with his brush in three years. He is now building a princely mansion at Irvington, on the Hudson, and drives the most stylish team in the Central Park.

The Mariposa, (Cal.) Free Press, speaking of a certain class of newspapers, says: "They are not governed by put them in a box and then damn the box."

Two pretty stories are told by the Gezette de France that the Imperial Prince intends to buy out of his pocket-money
(1) all the material of the French army of Rome, and make a present of it to the Pope, his godfather. This would be a curious variation on the air of non-intervention, and a still more curious mode of executing the convention of Sept. 17.

New Department.—In another column will be found an order from the President, forming the Military Department of the Platte, to be commanded by Brig.
Gen. P. St. George Cooke, U. S. A.
This is a move in the right direction, and Gen. Cooke is favorably known to the residents of the Plains as an Indian fighter.

Mrs. E. W. WYNCOOP writes from Fort Larnard, Kansas, that she has obtained a white girl, fifteen years old, named Amada Fletcher, from the Cheyenne Indians. She says her family was enroute from Minersville, Henry Co., Ill., to Idaho, and was attacked by Indians Aug. 1st, near Fort Halleck, when her mother was killed and she taken prisoner.
If any one knows the present residence of her father they will confer a favor by informing Major Wyncoop by letter.

In another column will be found the card of that popular and reliable institution, the Fort Bridger Sutter's Store.
Most every emigrant or soldier that has ever been in Utah can testify to its liberal character. Judge Carter, the proprietor, is well known as one of the leading men and heaviest merchants on the Plains, while of the whole-souled clerks, Sharp and Scott, we cannot speak in too high terms. The latter has been spending a portion of the winter-months among his numerous friends here in the metropolis, but is about leaving to resume his post in the rural regions.

MONTANAWARDS.—Mr. Allman's train of six-horse Concord coaches, (four in number), which left Sacramento, Cal., on the 20th of February, arrived in this city on Monday last and left yesterday for Helena, Montana, heavily loaded with merchandise. The stock, and indeed the whole outfit, is in fine condition, and presents evidence of excellent treatment on the road. A person looking at the teams as they passed through our streets would scarcely think that the same horses had made the through trip from Sacramento in less than thirty traveling days; but such, nevertheless, is the fact. John Allman evidently knows how a good team should be treated, and is well entitled to his reputation as a first class stage-man. We are informed that he will establish a line of stages through the Northern mines. Success to him.

WAR DEPARTMENT,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Washington, March 5, 1866.

GENERAL ORDERS,
No. 12.

I. The present military department of the Missouri will be divided into two parts, one called the Department of the Missouri, to be commanded by Major General John Pope, headquarters at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas; the other, to be called the Department of the Platte, to be commanded by Brigadier General P. St. George Cooke, United States army, headquarters, Omaha, Nebraska.

II. Major General W. T. Sherman, commanding the Division of the Mississippi, will designate the limits of the new departments, and report the same to the Adjutant General of the army.
By order of the President of the United States.
E. D. TOWNSEND,
Assistant Adjutant General.

Brigadier General P. St. George Cooke,
United States army, having been assigned to the command of the Department of the Platte, has been relieved from duty as Superintendent of the General Recruiting Service, and ordered to turn over the records thereof to Brevet Brigadier General B. Butterfield, Colonel 6th

California Volunteer Officers.

We find the following report of Legislative proceedings in the California assembly, March 21, 1866, in the columns of the Sacramento Union. The action thus taken by a majority of the assembly may be considered as nearly equivalent to a defeat. Officers of the California Volunteers need not anticipate any relief from the present session of their Legislature. The vote on the bill should be saved by them for a future reference:

Assembly Bill No. 425—An Act for the relief of the commissioned officers of the California Volunteers in the service of the United States—was taken up in its order on the calendar.

Mr. Hunt of Santa Clara moved that the bill be laid on the table.

Mr. Wilcox demanded the ayes and noes, which were ordered, and the bill was laid on the table by the following vote:

Ayes—Messrs. Anthony, Blodson, Bos-quit, Bowman, Braly, Brown of Contra-Costa, Brown of Tulare, Bugbee, Chamberlain, Chappell, Clayton, Collier, Corey, Dornin, Downing Dutton, Dwyer, Greene, Hamlin, Hatch, Hogle, Holden, Howard, Hunt of Santa Clara, Maholin,

son, Satterwhite, Sherwood, Singleton,

Noes—Messrs. Ayer, Brown of Amader, Campbell, Coglian, Dorr, Hans-brow, Hawkins, Heart, Hill, Hopper, Johnson, Leech, Lupton Luttrell, Mac-McClelland, Pattison, Perrin, Sawyer, Sexton, Steele, Tilden, Ward, Wiggins,
Wilcox—25.

Mr. Wilcox said he wished to explain his vote. As the author of the bill he returned his thanks to the gentleman from Santa Clara for his remarkable courtesy in moving to lay the bill on the table, and thus preventing him from saying a word in the way of explanation.
He introduced the bill because he thought it was right that those officers should receive some remuneration, and it was not courteous to him nor just to the volunteer officers to lay the bill on the table without any discussion whatever.

Mr. Sawyer offered a resolution to amend the rules so as to provide that no motion to lay the bill on the table shall be considered until the author of the bill has been afforded an opportunity to speak upon it.

The resolution was laid over until tomorrow, under the rules.
